Paperwork & a void check Prior to any lambs being loaded is to be emailed to Transport@prairielambco-op.com

All lambs will need to be colour marked, this will be allocated to you so they only have 1 colour .

As producers, you are given the option of marketing your lambs directly to buyers or through auction when booking with us. Once all lambs are loaded, Prairie Lamb Co-op invoices the buyer, and payment is required before the lambs are unloaded at their destination. Producers are then paid promptly once funds are received

(In the unlikely event that Prairie Lamb Co-op does not receive payment at the time of unloading at the buyer's establishment, we will immediately seek an alternative market option, either another buyer or an auction market, to ensure producers receive payment for their lambs)

Prairie Lamb Co-op is committed to doing everything possible to make sure our producer members remain our first priority

I understand I am financially responsible to pay for the space on the load that I booked whether those lambs make it to the truck or not
